THE PILGRIM GROUP

A Message from Fr Paul

You are merciful to all, O Lord, and despise nothing that you have made. You overlook people's sins, to bring them to repentance, and you spare them, for you are the Lord our God.

These words are taken from the entrance antiphon on Ash Wednesday, and they speak of the forgiveness we find in the Lord our God. When we think about Ash Wednesday and the beginning of Lent, we often do so with a heavy heart. We can almost feel our hearts sink within us under the burden of a heavy load, a burden so great, that it has potentially stopped us where we are, and yet this antiphon speaks of God's mercy, not his condemnation. The forty days before Easter are a time of preparation for us, a time of fasting, prayer and penance, before we meet our risen Lord at Easter. This is a time where we examine our lives to see where we fall short of the love of God and although these are not times of great rejoicing, neither should they be a time of misery either. For this is a time where we try to turn our lives around in order that we may come closer to God, in order that we may pick up our own crosses and follow Christ on that road that leads us to Calvary, and ultimately new life with Christ.

If this season is one where we have the potential to draw closer to Christ, closer to God, why do we enter it with such a heavy heart, what great burden does it place on us? In order to draw closer to God we must first let go of the world, looking at our own lives, our faults and failings that keep us here. Looking at our sins is the easy part, it is letting them go that is the hardest. We can become comfortable with our sins, not wanting to be parted from them even though we can see the damage they do. Comfortable with them because we know them, letting go of them would be going into the unknown and that fills us with fear. There is however nothing to fear, because when we let go of our sins, Christ is there ready to catch us.

NEWS FROM SS PETER & PAUL, KIRTON

We start Kirton News with a word of thanks. Thank you to Charlotte and Keir for their time as church wardens. They have decided to explore their faith further and visiting other churches in the area and wider afield. We send them on their way with love and prayers and grateful thanks. Kirton had a great Christmas tide and the church looked beautiful, full of trees and flowers. We thank all who took part, nativity builders, cleaners, flower arrangers and servers. In January we hosted the Winter warmer sale, Jumble sale selling winter warm clothing and also the Race Night, we have been very blessed to have this organized for us by members of Kirton community, it was a fantastic evening. Now look forward to Feb and March and the excitement of what is to come. February, brings cleaning day on 21st from 10am to 12. With bacon rolls and a hot drink to finish our time cleaning and March with the warmer weather, we start our regular coffee mornings and a book sale and afternoon tea.

Everyone is welcome to join any of the rotas we have, reading, cleaning, flowers, refreshments. Please speak to fr Paul or Carol if you want to take part.

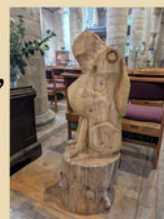

We also have an Easter hare raffle coming up soon, please take tickets to sell to friends and family. Also available from Carol
